1. "Ultimate Collection," Steel Pulse

Reggae is what I listen to when I go home at 3 a.m. and talk to redheads on the Internet.

2. "Chocolate Starfish and the Hot Dog Flavored Water," Limp Bizkit

This makes me want to drive 120 mph on I-85 through Davidson County.

3. "Ultimix," Ultimix

If you go to a dance club anywhere in the world, you are hearing Ultimix.

4. "Stile Libero," Eros Ramazzotti

The Italian version. Bellissimo!

5. "Marc Anthony," Marc Anthony

That's window-steaming music! I can't understand what he's saying, but it pushes all of a woman's buttons.

6. "The Marshall Mathers LP," Eminem

What a negative, dysfunctional, small-minded idiot. But you have to admit that the music is genius. Get past the lyrics and really listen to the music.

7. "Supernatural," Santana

This CD reminds me of my mom's old record changer and my dad mowing the lawn. It's true California summertime music.

8 and 9. "Now That's What I Call Music, Volume 4" and "Now That's What I Call Music, Volume 5," various artists

I like these two CDs because you get only the good songs from these artists without having to wade through all the harmonic distortions.

10. "Fly," Dixie Chicks

I heard this story about a farmer who played DixieChicks for his pigs. The neighbors didn't like it, but the pigs did. I can now sing the Chicks' song "Sin Wagon" in my sleep. Don't ask me why.
